

Landscape on Brownfield Sites:

Landscapes give a beautifying touch to a property. Be it a residential area or a commercial complex or a university campus, landscapes have always been the center of attraction. Landscaping is much more than the beautification of the yard, it is a place of relaxation, entertaining and can be a place of conservation with minimum human activities.

The Management of ULAB feels that, landscapes are essential for the environment as it utilizes fewer resources, supports lifecycle, flourishes flora and fauna, and offers long-term investment results. In this regards, the Management of ULAB redeveloped a Brownfield site for landscaping and beautification at the main entry of the University.

Some facts about redevelopment of brownfield site:

- It appears in the west side of permanent campus.
- Redeveloped in 2019

|              |                                                                                     |               |                                                                                       |
|--------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Created Date | 04-Feb-2019                                                                         | Revision Date | 24-Feb-2020                                                                           |
| Prepared by  |  | Approved by   |  |